National Occupational Health Week 2023

In-house Health Event Held

Shintec Hozumi Co., Ltd. held a health event (Health Check/Molkky Tournament) for employees in November in conjunction with National Occupational Health Week.

This year, with the cooperation of Yakult Tokai, we conducted bone density measurements, skin age measurements, and stress checks that can be easily done during lunch breaks. The Molkky tournament was a great success with 14 teams of interested employees participating.

Through these events, we aim to create a bright and healthy workplace by deepening interactions between employees and creating opportunities to increase their interest in their own health.
